Hauptmann Case Bared
To Legal Aspects Plea
Before Appellate CourtBy JAMES Y. LAWRENCE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—(P)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's lawyers stripped his case of its emotional wrappings today and presented the core—the strictly legal aspect—to the state's highest court in an appeal from the Flemington verdict which decreed he must die for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

To the fourteen judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, they presented a lengthy brief, citing numerous legal opinions to support their contention that Hauptmann did not receive justice in the crowded, old-fashioned Hunterdon county courthouse.

To the brief they added, in their appeal, three hours of oral argument, twice the time allotted to the state.

The Hauptmann brief laid its heaviest emphasis on the charge that the state had wrongfully used varying theories in the trial as to how the kidnaper's death, it said, was that the child had been killed when he was dropped from the kidnaper's bucking ladder. Despite this, the brief contended, Attorney General David T. Wilentz, summing up for the state, espoused an entirely different theory that Hauptmann had killed the child before removing him from the crib.

Cite Recent Opinion.
A week-old opinion of the court granting a new trial to a Newark negro was cited in support of this contention. Although the court did not rule on the point in that decision, it observed in its opinion that it was unfair to inject a new theory in a murder trial after the case had proceeded to a different theory because it would be a cross examination of the new theory.

The brief further contended that the alleged varying death theories advanced by the prosecution contravened Hauptmann's constitutional rights to a fair trial. In this contention was seen the possible basis of an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court in AUSTIN, June 20.—(P)—Plans to remove Texas records from guard duty over records of the agriculture department were altered today and the guard continued at the request of J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, and the chairman of a legislative investigating committee.

Representative E. E. Hunter, of Cleburne, chairman of the committee, sent the records to the department two days ago pending an audit of the department records. The committee is investigating charges of official misconduct by McDonald.

Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt said that because he needed the records for other duty he proposed to remove them from the department, but changed his plans after talking to McDonald and Hunter.

Meanwhile, McDonald, stating Hunter had sent a deputy constable and a truck to the department to remove the records

LONDON, June 20.—The British government today took up the two-fold task of appeasing French fears regarding its naval agreement with Germany and of seeking an immediate decision on the powers concerned regarding a western European air pact.

Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations relations, was given his final instructions by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin at a private conference before his departure this afternoon for Paris. Shortly before this meeting, the prime minister received Gen. Joachim Von Ribbentrop, reichsfuehrer Hitler's emissary, and discussed with him the prospects for adapting various drafts of proposed air pacts into an agreement.

Captain Eden, who is accompanied by William Strang, the foreign office expert, will remain in Paris at least two days in discussion of the general European situation with Premier Pierre La-

The officials concerned said they considered that the Washington naval treaty of 1922 has ceased to apply, that France's "hands are free," and that Great Britain had violated the spirit of the accord by not accepting the Washington accord—and that,

Critics of "unconstitutional" were raised time and again during the eight hours of debate yesterday, but in the end it was passed by a vote of 300 to 10.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, hailed the passage of the bill as a "Magna Charta of Labor." He and other labor leaders had renewed demands for its passage when NRA, with its collective bargaining guarantee, was swept away by the supreme court.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(P)—Attorney General Cummings today said the justice department will make a "full investigation" of charges of "inefficiency," "graft," and "favoritism" in departmental bureaus made by Ewing Y. Mitchell, ousted assistant secretary of commerce regardless of the outcome of an investigation by the senate commerce committee.

This announcement came shortly after Mitchell had ended his second day of testimony before the committee with assertions that proper efficiency in the air commerce bureau and steamboat inspection service of the commerce department might have prevented the recent airplane crash in which Senator Cutting of New Mexico was killed and the burning of the liner Morro Castle with a large loss of life.

He acknowledged under sharp questioning by openly hostile committee members, however, that he had no actual facts to support his charges.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(P)—The senate finance committee refused today to add any of President Roosevelt's wealth tax proposals in approving the house resolution extending $500,000,000 of nuisance and excise levies expiring June 30.

Higher taxes on the wealthy were proposed yesterday by the president in a special message to congress. He asked this action to reduce large incomes and to prevent concentration of great wealth.

Considerable difference of opinion existing as to whether he wanted the program passed this session. There was a clear implication he wanted most of it enacted before adjournment, but some leading democrats privately opposed this. The senate committee voted to extend the nuisance taxes for one year instead of two voted by the house.

Senator LaFollette (P-Wis) proposed that an inheritance tax and higher surtax and corporation taxes be incorporated in the resolution, but Chairman Harrison announced the "sentiment of the committee was that the proposal should go through without amendments."

Summary of New Proposals Spread
Wealth By Taxes

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(P)—Here is President Roosevelt's "wider distribution of wealth."

1. An inheritance and gift tax (no specified amount) on "all very large amounts received by any one legatee," the proceeds to be used to reduce the national debt.

2. A graduated income tax on corporations, ranging from 10 3/4 to 16 3/4 per cent, according to size of the corporations, and replacing the present uniform levy of 13 3/4 on all companies.

3. A definite increase in the taxes now levied upon very great individual net incomes—especially those over $1,000,000.

4. Ultimate elimination of all "unnecessary" holding companies through taxation.

5. A constitutional amendment to permit the taxation of new exempt government securities.

The Roosevelt recommendations for new taxes also entered into the decision for a shorter extension, Harrison said.

Committee members felt the question of apportioning extension could be considered next session along with the tax proposal.

Harrison said action on the President's recommendations was up to the ways and means committee of the house but he felt it would be "impossible" to do anything with them this session.

LaFollette notified the committee of his amendments on the floor to carry out the President's recommendations, but

EXEMPTION PRIVATE PENSION
PLANS MAJOR CONTROVERSY
FINAL PASSAGE SECURITY BILL

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(P)—Though President Roosevelt's private pension security program has now passed both houses of congress, one major controversy remains to be fought to a finish.

Brushing aside scattered cries of "unconstitutionality," the senate approved the bill yesterday by a vote of 70 to 6, but before it did so, it tacked on the Clark amendment under which pension systems set up by private concerns would be exempt from the taxation provided in the measure.

So the bill now must be threshed over in a conference of senators and representatives to see what shall be done about this and some other amendments. LaFollette said, however, he would renew his fight on the senate floor.

It was indicated the committee majority would oppose the amendments on the floor.

Harrison expressed the belief the President's program could not be put into shape for passage this session.

He also said the President did not want his new tax program to interfere with the nuisance tax proposal extension.

The committee, on motion of Senator Gore (D-Ohio) voted to extend the nuisance and excise levies and four tariffs for one year.

Harrison said the one year extension was voted because "it is hoped that conditions will improve so much that we won't have to extend the taxes more than one year."

President's recommendations for new taxes also entered into the decision for a shorter extension, Harrison said.

LONG IS SKEPTICAL. AFTER HEARING PLAN FOR CURBING WEALTH

PROMISES SUPPORT ROOSEVELT;
VELT; SAYS FOLLOWS
HIS SCHEMES

By W. H. MYLANDER
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—

With considerable skepticism, Senator Long (D-La.) today welcomed President Roosevelt's "back to the fold" of his "share the wealth" movement.

Acceding to the executive's tax message, Long told reporters that "if he'll come along and actually bust every big fortune in America, we'd be out of the depression in 24 hours."

"But bear in mind," said the kingfisher, "the burnt child dreads the fire."

"I'm afraid this message came so as to turn the public's mind from the horrible exposures made by Mitchell, his former assistant secretary of commerce, on the gifts and bounties ordered by Mr. Roosevelt for the Astors and their associates."

"I fear that when the boom over these exposures subsides, it will be the end of Mr. Roosevelt's talk about decentralizing wealth. That's been our experience with him in the past."

Dancing around his office in glee at what he declared was the discomfiture of certain democratic leaders over the message, Long dictated a statement promising his assistance in getting the measures through congress.

He turned serious when saying: "Forty-eight hours ago they defeated my amendments to the social security bill which would have accomplished the purpose he talked about today. What has converted him?"

"I'm afraid, in view of the fact that he has confessed to such conversion so many times—but I pray the God above that this man will get straight this time regardless of what has caused him to do so."

"I will back him with every might and main in this purpose. It can all be accomplished within 24 hours. I have already presented the plans to congress. If he wants others to do the same thing, we can get them up in 24 hours."

TAXES

he said "I don't believe the senate is going to act specifically or adopt a program without more serious consideration."

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Faced with a move by liberals for an immediate test on President Roosevelt's wealth-tax program, the senate finance committee today considered in executive session the house-approved bill extending for two years $500,000,000 of nuisance and other levies expiring June 30.

In a surprise message to congress late yesterday, the president proposed higher taxes on the wealthy to reduce large incomes and to prevent concentration of riches and economic power.

There was a plain implication that he wanted action this session on a majority of the program. But some congressional leaders privately expressed opposition to the tax program.

Close confidants of the president, meanwhile, passed the word that he is considering a new and broad NRA designed to be, in a sense, a companion measure to the tax program.

Up to Congress Leaders. It was emphasized at the White House that President Roosevelt is standing on the language of his special message and leaving the procedure for the present at least, to congressional leaders.

Before the senate finance committee met, Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis.), announced he would attempt to tack on an inheritance tax and higher surtaxes and corporation income taxes.

Chairman Harrison expressed hope this effort would not be made. He said he believed it would endanger adoption of the house resolution before the nuisance taxes and tariffs expire.

Democratic leaders indicated privately the president's program was so extensive and required so much study that it should go over until next year, despite the fact that 1936 is a campaign year.

Take Month Draft Bill. Tax drafting was estimated it would take at least a month to frame a bill to carry out the president's program. Democratic members of the finance committee contended the congressional session would be prolonged six weeks if new taxes were pushed now.

The tax plan, intended to reduce great fortunes and break large incomes, met with considerable opposition from the "left" and criticism from the "right." It was presented to congress late yesterday with the presidential comment that it would encourage the "wider distribution of wealth."

The revived NRA which the president is said to be considering was pictured by some of his advisers, being drafted by the agency named, as an effort to increase mass purchasing power. Thus, they said, it would be akin to the tax plan. They foresaw the possibility that another surprise message would be forthcoming.

There is one major "if" on NRA, it was said. The plan may be recommended if the administration can find a definition of interstate commerce it considers satisfactory and able to stand the test of constitutionality. Authoritative sources said the president had remarked that he was inclined to believe congress could constitutionally define interstate commerce so the federal government could supervise some things over which the supreme court held the old NRA had no power.

Definition Is Sought. The question of what is for words to define what the constitution means when it says congress can regulate commerce "among the several states."

Yesterday's tax message, it be-vived about a plan submitted to the senate finance committee by Secretary Morgenthau.

Suggesting that $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 could be raised annually, Morgenthau proposed that the present income tax rates be applied to inheritances and gifts to pay the soldiers bonus-increase congress passed the bonus. Present income rates range from 4 per cent to nearly 63 per cent.

The President himself proposed nothing more definite on individual income taxes than increases for higher brackets. He said that a man with a $6,000 income pays twice as much as the man with $4,000 while the man with $5,000,000 pays at the same rate as the one with only $1,000,000.

That illustration, however, was not intended as meaning the President had closed the door to increases in rates on lower brackets.

At any rate, tax experts generally agreed that imposing high inheritances on top of the existing estate taxes certainly would break up huge fortunes. They calculated that under the Morgenthau schedule, if a fortune of $15,000,000 was left to one person it would shrink to less than $3,000,000 by the time all taxes were paid.

Reactions Are Varied. For instance, Senator Neely (D-W. Va.) called the message a "life-saver for democracy" and Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis.) said it was "a splendid message" while Representative Snell, of New York, the house republican leader, termed the message a "stump speech," said the president was "trying to get the jump on Huey Long" and predicted that the plan would "retard the improvement hoped for this summer."

Senator Norris (R-Neb.) said the program "suits me 100 per cent both on the inheritance tax and the corporation tax." Representative Martin (R-Mass.) described it as "not the kind that will be helpful to recovery at this time."

There was no immediate comment on the president's contention that wealth "does not come merely from individual effort" but from a combination of individual effort and of the manifold uses to which the community puts that effort.

The subject of budget-balancing was touched upon in one part of the message. It said that money raised by the new inheritance taxes should be applied "to the reduction of the national debt."

Specifications Omitted. Specific tax "rates" except for corporation incomes, were omitted from the president's suggestions. Therefore, the general conclusion was that he was willing for congress to work out the schedules itself. But talk was restricted about a plan submitted to the senate finance committee by Secretary Morgenthau.

Suggesting that $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 could be raised annually, Morgenthau proposed that the present income tax rates be applied to inheritances and gifts to pay the soldiers bonus-increase congress passed the bonus. Present income rates range from 4 per cent to nearly 63 per cent.

Kaiser Quiet on Nazi Affairs

With Hitler and Nazi activities constantly in headlines of the international press, speculation turns to ex-Kaiser and his reaction to events in his fatherland. It seems unbelievable that this man of boundless energies, whose ambition was to rule the world, whose iron will directed the forces of the Central Powers in the World war, should quietly sit by when history is in the making in his native country. Yet such is the case. At 76 the ex-Kaiser carries on a quiet existence in self-imposed exile at his castle at Doorn, Holland, a quiet little village less than 100 miles from the German border.

Just like he does." The witness did not elaborate. The Rev. B. P. Riddle, Baptist minister at Orangefield, near here, said he had heard about ten persons express the opinion that Mr. Esckridge was insane, and added that they regarded anyone who committed murder as insane at the time of the act.

Thinks Pastor Insane. "Is that your opinion?" Kinard asked. "There are varying grades of insanity," Mr. Riddle answered. "That is one type."

"That would apply to Clyde Barrow, John Dillinger or 'Baby Face' Nelson, would it not?" V. H. Stark of the defense staff objected before Mr. Riddle could answer on the grounds the prosecutor was trying to prejudice the jury against Mr. Esckridge. Judge F. Pat Adams permitted the question to stand, however, and the witness replied that he was of the opinion all slayers were insane to some extent.

event of an unfavorable decision. The brief, prepared by Egbert Rosecrans, C. Lloyd Fisher, and Frederick A. Numerous portions of the trial record were cited to support the charge.

It also attacked the testimony of Amandus Hockmuth, octogenarian who testified he saw Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate, and attacked the credibility of Millard Whitted and Charles B. Rosetter, who also placed Hauptmann in the vicinity.

Judge's Rulings Attacked. Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard presiding judge was attacked in the brief on the grounds that he "impaired a free verdict and imposed upon the jury his conclusions as to the evidence and imposed upon the defendant an unauthorized rule as to reasonable doubt." The brief charged likewise that he failed to charge the rule as to the weight of handwriting testimony, and ignored a number of requested charges offered by the defense.

The brief attacked the expert value of Arthur Koehler's wood testimony, and the value of Lindbergh's identification of Hauptmann's voice. It charged Dr. John F. Condon, ransom payment intermediary, did not testify truthfully and fairly, and that the testimony of John Perrone, Bronx taxi driver, Al Rich, Condon's bodyguard, and other state witnesses was confused.

The state brief replied point by point to the seventeen issues raised in the defense brief. It defended the attorney general's characterization of Hauptmann as a "cold blooded murderer" and "public enemy No. 1 of the world" as proper comments on the "character of a man, who would commit such a crime. The summation, it held, was "eminent proper" and a "temperate and moderate statement of the facts."

Making a sweeping denial of defense charges of error in the trial, the state declared the verdict of the Flemington jury "was consistent with the evidence produced."

Pointing to the testimony of the handwriting experts and Koehler as "unshaken and uncontradicted," the state continued: "The testimony of Dr. John F. Condon is of like effect. He described clearly and accurately his meetings with the plaintiff-in-error (Hauptmann), payment of the ransom money and his identification was positive, emphatic and adroit, and skillful cross examination in no way affected his story."

Col. Lindbergh's identification of Hauptmann's voice is not contradicted, the brief added, and was "a positive and direct identification which 'stands unchallenged.'" Failure of the defense to cross examine the aviator on this point was "significant," the state held.

Bruno Is Nervous. TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann sat alone in his death house cell today while his lawyers took to New Jersey's highest court his appeal from conviction of the Lindbergh baby slaying.

Hauptmann's confidence that the court of errors and appeals would grant him a new trial remained unshaken after his four months' wait within the shadow of the electric chair. He was nervous as the hour for argument of his appeal approached, but his counsel found him cheerful.

More months of waiting—three or four—will follow the hearing, while the 14 members of the court study the ten-volume record of the Flemington trial and weigh the arguments of the defense and the prosecution.

A decision, either sustaining the conviction or ordering a new trial, was not expected until September or October.

Egbert Rosecrans and Frederick A. Pope planned to divide the three hours allotted them for defense argument, basing their contentions on "manifest errors," which allegedly developed during the six weeks' trial and on the blanket declaration that the conviction was contrary to the weight of the evidence.

The state, with Attorney General David T. Wilentz as spokesman, marshalled arguments to sustain the conviction. It was allotted an hour and one half of the afternoon session.

Lindbergh Not Present. TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, patiently attended to trial at Flemington every day Bruno Richard Hauptmann's trial sessions were held, was not on hand today to hear the condemned man's lawyers argue for a reversal of his conviction as the Lindbergh kidnap murderer.

Few Spectators Hear Appellate Arguments. TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—New Jersey's fourteen justices of the high court heard Bruno Richard Hauptmann's attorneys plead for a new trial today, and wanted to know why the attorneys failed at the trial to raise objection to the state's arguments.

Only 46 spectators heard the attorneys prosecute their appeal behind locked doors. Of their allotted three hours, the condemned man's attorneys reserved 15 minutes for rebuttal to the state's hour and a half this afternoon.

Hauptmann, sentenced to die for the murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., remained in his cell in state prison. His wife barred from the hearing, visited him there. She said she found him cheerful.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, constant attendant at the trial of Hauptmann, was not on hand to hear the appeal arguments.

Hauptmann's lawyers charged the trial court error in permitting Attorney General David T. Wilentz to say such things of Hauptmann as "he'll be thawed out before he hears the switch."

To a query from Justice Clarence E. Case as to why he did not raise objection at the time, Attorney Egbert Rosecrans replied that Edward J. Reilly was then the chief attorney for Hauptmann.

"Didn't you have any rights?" asked Justice Joseph L. Bodine. "Maybe I was too ignorant or motivated by things I can't explain," said Rosecrans. "Maybe I

J. F. Godfrey of Baytown, driver of the automobile, and A. Harvard, his companion, on, came to Corsicana and made statements to Chris L. Knox, assistant criminal district attorney and officers relative to the accident. Godfrey said that the wagon was driven by Melton Clark and that he (Godfrey) hit the wagon to avoid a head on collision with the truck and that the truck struck his (Godfrey's) leg and turned over three times, hurling Belew out of the truck on the concrete pavement. Belew was placed in a passing vehicle and rushed to the Ennis hospital. Godfrey said that Clark received a slightly injured leg. Godfrey and Harvard escaped injuries.

District attorney and sheriff's officers and state highway patrolmen were investigating the collision Thursday morning.

CHALLENGED, CHALLENGING, CHURCH CONFRONTS CRISIS *

ominous Undertone of Resistance to Religion
In This Era of Change Met by Expanding Activities of Christianity --- Facing Facts Fairly.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

These are days of challenge for religion. On a large scale, and in detail, as a general influence and by direct national action, defiance has been flung into the teeth of Christianity. The situation is more disturbing than most of the political complications that fill the newspapers of the world. Let us take a look at the scene, remembering that religion has always been the fundamental motive in human life.

First to come to mind is the case of Russia, which has definitely and comprehensively outlawed all religion, and has maintained systematic efforts to eradicate every trace of it from the nation. Most of us remember when Russia's proudest boast was that she was "Holy Russia," and the czar was called "The Little Father" of the people. The Great Father above, for a dozen years the present Russian government has been conducting an "anti-God war," with a world-ravaging influence. Complete victory is not to be recorded, and some of us think it never will be—but at least a generation of Russians are growing up, trained in hostility to religion.

Germany, the land of Luther, is fostering a pagan nationalist cult, and hampering both the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches. The religious struggle in Germany really underlies all other issues; and will probably be determinative of the nation's future.

Mexico has patently outlawed the churches, Roman Catholic and Protestant. She aims to create a wholly secular civilization. Turkey, too, has divorced the state from religion, and abolished all religious schools, Moslem and Christian. She permits freedom of worship, but her instruction of youth, and the whole national trend, is toward the secular.

Other oriental nations, notably China, have shown a tendency to do likewise; though the anti-Christian tide in China seems definitely to have turned.

All of the foregoing is a staggering record. It should have driven the churches to their knees, in fasting and in prayer, long ere this. If there is any sense of solidarity and statesmanship in religion it should be stimulated to activity by the ominous world outlook in so many directions.

Along with these major attacks upon religion, and equally menacing, go the contemporary trends toward materialism and the secular spirit. Things are in the saddle in the case of myriads of lives. The irreverent tendency in nature and entertainment is setting a widespread and insidious example. The insidiousness of the writings which shaped our national character are missing. A question mark is placed after all the ancient integrities. Chastity, honor, unselfishness, patriotism and Divine authority are no longer counted indispensable by a host of authors and readers. There is abundant material for Jeremiah in the present scene.

The uncertain Church.

In considering challenged Christianity, we cannot ignore the obvious defects in the religious life of today. A spirit of hesitancy, of uncertainty, of questioning and pettiness is outstanding. Confronted by a world crisis, the church is quarrelling over the ill-defined issue of Fundamentalism and Modernism. Our leaders are often ecclesiastical politicians than prophets.

"Progressive" and publicity-conscious preachers are heard often upon political and economic issues than upon the great central truths of the Gospel. Some observers look upon this tendency as an escape philosophy; it is easier to deal in the generalities of world affairs than it is to deal with the specifics of the Christian life. If we knew only what we read in the press about the religious leaders of our time we might suppose that the Moon-eyed case, the Scottsboro case, the world court pacifism and the armament question were the major themes of Christian interest; and that the great dynamic of the life-changing Gospel no longer held first place.

On The Other Hand. All of the foregoing has been a gloomy but essential introduction to the central theme of this Lesson. For in spite of obstacles and discouragement and indifference, the main issue of the hour is the winning of human lives into the discipleship of Jesus. And that work, inadequately called missions, is going forward by majestic strides. Thousands of missionaries are scattered over the far-flung world, obeying the faraway command of the Saviour.

Their success is indisputable and momentous. They are challenging paganism and the old order. The ancient civilizations of the East have been fundamentally affected by the Christian propaganda. No longer do informed persons believe that

"The East is the East and the West is the West, And never the twain shall meet."

For they have met; and the old order has met; and the old order, the subjection and seclusion of women, prevailing ignorance, caste tyranny and political despotism are crumbling before the conquering Christian conception of life. That person who says that missions have accomplished nothing is simply ignorant.

Glimpses Of Triumph. As an antidote to the prevalent literature of depression, every Christian should read a missionary magazine. It is really necessary to do so in order to have a full-orbed conception of the state of religion throughout the world. Some parts of the field may be suffering drought, while other regions are fruitful.

One of the Chinese cities that I hold in definite memory is Suchien, where I sojourned with the Southern Presbyterian mission during the great famine of 1906-07. The other day I had news of a Christian revival there, with the "big church" crowded beyond its capacity, and inquirers numbering hundreds. Similar news of spiritual awakenings comes from other parts of China.

In Africa like scenes are being witnessed; and reports from India are the same. In other words, on the mission field the Gospel is bearing its primitive fruits, of conversion and regeneration. Multitudes of men and women are finding life's newness and joy and peace in coming to Christ. More and more the indigenous church in mission lands is growing self-supporting and aggressive, and carrying out for itself the Master's command to evangelize. These results mirror the predominantly spiritual activities of the missionaries. When I grow impatient with the tendency of

Hale County Farmers Use Tractors Night

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 19.—(P)—Hale county farmers have been "burning the midnight oil" in an effort to complete their planting.

Far into the night could be heard the roar of tractor motors as farmers sought to get seed into the ground in time to make row crops. Plainview grain men said the planting activity was greater than for any similar period in the last five or six years. Recent hard rains made it necessary to replant much cotton and feed crops. Some farmers had to plant a third time.

some city pastors to turn aside to incidentals, I am heartened by the thought of the thousands of missionaries, many of whom I know personally, who are busy at the primary task of evangelization. Discouragements and defeats in one area are offset by encouragements and victories in other areas.

Remedy For Religion's Ills. Thus the challenged Church may become revitalized and triumphant by being the challenge in Church. There is a thrill in the very audacity of the faith which avows the purpose of winning the whole world to Christ. Any congregation which has for its main business the propagation of the Gospel will be delivered from petty cares and petty contentions.

In the face of His own departure and of an intense and bitter opposition to His teaching, Jesus gave His followers the order to take the aggressive. They were not to seek shelter and safety for themselves; but were to go forth openly as missionaries to win the whole world. This seemed like sublime folly. What could that handful of plain men do against the established might of the paganism of the Roman world?

Yet that plan suggested. The blazing missionary zeal of the early Church not only won recruits by multitudes, but is also vitalized and strengthened the mission field. On the theology of Christianity was wrought out, and its power demonstrated. A missionary church is mighty; a non-missionary church is moribund.

NEW NRA DIRECTED BY PRESIDENT WATCH BUSINESS PRACTICES

DESIRE ACCURATE INFORMATION ON CHANGES AFTER CODES ENDED

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(P)—The new NRA was directed today by President Roosevelt to examine closely any changes which occur in labor standards or fair trade practices following abolition of codes.

In a letter to James L. O'Neill, acting administrator, the president stated: "It is of primary importance that this work should be done very carefully and under the supervision of an impartial committee."

He proposed a committee including an impartial chairman, a representative of management and a representative of labor and members designated by the departments of commerce and labor.

The president's letter follows: "In line with recent discussion, I am requesting you to set up in the division of business co-operation a section devoted to accumulating, checking and reporting accurate information concerning the extent to which changes occur in the maintenance of labor standards or fair trade provisions of codes of fair competition, following the abolition of such codes."

It is of primary importance that this work should be done very carefully and under the supervision of an impartial committee, which might be constituted as follows: An impartial chairman, a representative of management and a representative of labor and a member designated by the department of commerce and another by the department of labor.

Through such a committee this work may be co-ordinated with the informational services of the departments of commerce and labor and with similar services maintained by organizations of employers or employees.

Information should be collected through field offices and other available sources under such supervision that reports sent to Washington can be checked, compiled and put in form for appropriate publication with assurance that they are accurate and as comprehensive as possible.

"It should be emphasized that the purpose of this work is the gathering and publication of reliable information and to counteract any propaganda from private sources which may be designed to promote a special interest."

STEPHENVILLE WAS VISITED BY TWISTER EARLY MONDAY NIGHT

STEPHENVILLE, June 18.—(P)—A twister which hit the eastern part of Stephenville last night critically injured one person, hurt three others seriously and demolished a dozen homes.

J. R. Ellis, about 75, received critical head injuries. His daughter, Anne, Grace and Lucy Ellis, were badly injured when their home was destroyed.

Forming northeast of town, the storm first hit about seven miles northeast of here. It swooped down on the Smith Springs community about four miles from Stephenville and caused heavy damages.

So strong was the twisting wind an automobile at the Ellis home was picked up and carried more than 100 yards. Two automobiles were blown over at the home of John Woolverton and the family escaped injury by rushing to a storm cellar. The Woolverton home was destroyed.

CCC ENROLLEES TO BE CONFINED BOYS ON RELIEF ROLLS

AUSTIN, June 19.—(Spl.)—Selection of Texas boys for enrollment in CCC camps will be confined hereafter strictly to young men whose families are on the relief rolls, it has been announced by Neal E. Guy, enrollment supervisor for the state.

Guy said federal officials had rescinded all instructions which formerly provided for enrollment of worthy unemployed boys and so-called "border-line" cases. "Henceforth we may admit to CCC camps only applicants who can make a proper allotment to dependents. It has been ordered that selectees for enrollment beginning June 15 must in every case represent families on the public relief rolls. This means that in the approaching enrollment period, the 12,000 young Texans taken into the camps should represent 12,000 families removed from the relief rolls."

Counties unable to supply their quotas from relief roll families will not be permitted to select non-relief applicants but will notify the state enrollment officer, who will fill the quota from a county which has more eligible candidates than its quota will allow it to choose.

First phase of the enrollment started about June 17, and will affect only a very few counties, since only 929 boys will be accepted at that time. The second period, July 1 to August 31, will be governed by completion of new camps now under construction.

County Boards to Refuse More Aid to Full-time Employees

AUSTIN, June 19.—(Spl.)—Full time employees may not receive assistance from county relief offices, regardless of the fact that in some instances the wage earned may be insufficient to provide subsistence requirements for the worker and his family, it has been announced by Mrs. Val M. Keating, resent 12,000 families removed from the relief rolls.

Counties unable to supply their quotas from relief roll families will not be permitted to select non-relief applicants but will notify the state enrollment officer, who will fill the quota from a county which has more eligible candidates than its quota will allow it to choose.

First phase of the enrollment started about June 17, and will affect only a very few counties, since only 929 boys will be accepted at that time. The second period, July 1 to August 31, will be governed by completion of new camps now under construction.

Case supervisors throughout the state were notified that it is contrary to the policy of the federal emergency relief administration to supplement the wages of full-time employees with relief funds. Case workers were instructed to examine their rolls and drop cases wherein the breadwinner is employed on a full time basis. "This regulation was not adopted to penalize the worker but to encourage employers to pay a living wage," declared Mrs. Keating. "We know of too many instances in which the employer will not pay subsistence wages. He expects the relief commission to supply the added needs. It amounts to a situation whereby the relief commission pays a part of the employee's salary. We feel that if the employer can not pay subsistence wages for a full time job, it should best be declared no job at all. The funds we spend are to be used to grant relief to economically distressed persons. We have no money for subsidies to employers."

NEW LAW PROTECTS MOTORING PUBLIC ON FENCED HIGHWAYS

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, June 19.—(P)—Major General Jacob F. Walters of Houston, speaking on "traffic security" at a luncheon here recently, recalled that "among the acts of the 44th Texas Legislature was a law providing for the imposition of a fine on the owner of hogs, cattle, horses and sheep running at large on any designated highway where both sides of the road is fenced."

He stated the act which would go into effect August 10, 1935, expressly provides that, in addition to all other law enforcement officers, it is especially the duty of the state highway patrol to enforce same.

The bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Hopkins of Gonzales and in the House by Representative Fuchs of Washington county. It had the endorsement of a number of chambers of commerce organizations and the Federated Clubs of Texas in state convention.

In November, 1933, while on Highway 75, between Madisonville and Huntsville, the automobile in which Walters was riding ran over a hog. The car went into the ditch and turned over, and Walters suffered a fractured shoulder and other injuries.

Stars in Caliente at Palace Sunday

"In Caliente," First National's latest musical offering with Dolores Del Rio and Pat O'Brien in the stellar roles has been booked for the Palace theatre beginning Sunday. Busby Berkeley, famous creator of screen spectacles, has staged three big songs and dance numbers entitled "In Caliente," "Lady in Red," and "Muchacha." In the latter number Phil Regan as a bandit chief, does the singing while Dolores Del Rio is featured as a dancing review.

Pat O'Brien portrays an ultra sophisticated magazine editor who is brilliant but inebriated a large part of the time. He gets mixed up with a chiseling blonde, so his employer kidnaps him and takes him to Caliente to try to sober him up.

There he meets Miss Del Rio, in the role of a famous dancer, and falls for both herself and her dancing, forgetting that he had once written a vicious review about the girl.

Glenda Farrell, who plays the part of the blonde menace, will not give Pat up, until she discovers that his employer, played by Edward Everett Horton, has more money. Leo Carrillo is the rascally uncle of Miss Del Rio, who tries to profit by the entire transaction.

Warden Quells Mutiny In Coal Mines In Prison

By R. GORDON BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer.
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)

LANSING, Kas., June 19.—(P)—Mutinous convicts—routed from the flame-scathed and badly damaged Kansas prison coal mine after 21 hours of rioting—were held in cells today awaiting discipline at the hands of Warden Lacey Simpson who forced their surrender early this morning.

Simpson sternly announced that the leaders of the mutiny would be punished. He did not disclose what action would be taken against the ringleaders, but it was expected that some of them would be placed in solitary confinement.

Members of the state board of administration left the prison after the 248 strikers had been brought to the surface and announced that disciplinary steps would be left to the warden. Prison officials and convicts alike slept in exhaustion after order had been restored. The work of ferreting out those responsible for the disturbance but bloodless mutiny was to come later.

The convicts, who had held ten guards as hostages underground without injury to the keepers, were fed their first meal in 72 hours at the regular breakfast time and then herded into one cell block under the guns of a heavy force of guards. They apparently had lost their three demands on the warden as the price of their surrender—removal of Dr. David F. Parker as prison physician, better cooked food and immunity from punishment. Prison officials said no concessions had been made.

A score of officers and guards led by Warden Simpson subdued the convicts in the ink darkness of the mine shafts. The first lift load of mutineers, sheepish, bedraggled, came to the surface and they marched past a line of heavily armed prison guards. The convicts were taken to their cell block, 60 feet away.

In 35 minutes the evacuation of the 730-foot mine level, where the riot occurred, was complete. Only a half dozen guards remained below to check the damage wrought in the convicts' rage. Termination of the day and night-long mutiny was accomplished without injury to either guards or convicts, and even the 19 frightened mules kept below to haul coal cars were reported unhurt.

"We had a time breaking down a door barricade. That's what took us so long," said Simpson as he came up at 3:30 to announce the riot was ended. "We don't owe them a nickel," declared T. W. Woodward, member of the prison board of administration.

The more than 300 prisoners he demanded better prepared food, the discharge of Dr. David F. Parker, prison physician, and immunity for their action. The prison guards and other officers used smoke from the fire started by the convicts themselves as their chief weapon of attack.

Started in the mule barns, the fire was fed by hay and timbers. An effort was made to drive armed guards away from the strategic gun cage near the base of the air shaft. This would have given them control of the entire subterranean mine and water that had been smuggled down a little at a time.

By reversing the ventilator fans, officers turned the heavy clouds of smoke upon the rioters and sent them struggling in disorderly groups to the far corners of the four miles of pitch black corridors.

Door Barricade Effective. Protected by gas masks and beating axes and electric torches fastened to their clothing, members of the attacking party descended without incident, but found their path blocked by a heavy door which separated the air shaft from the main mine shaft.

It had been bolstered by iron rails from the car tracks and heavy timbers. This was the door Simpson referred to as delaying the surrender. As it was battered down the officers saw a group of convicts walking toward them, their hands in the air. Others followed, and the mutiny was over.

"It is pretty late to be working and I'm ready to come up," said Tommy McMahon, one of the riot spokesmen, with dry humor. Thoroughly subdued the convicts gave no more trouble. The guards and officers preceded them up the small lift of the air shaft. The main shaft elevator was incapacitated.

A half dozen of the mine guards who had been held hostage again were in charge as the evacuation began. They herded their former captors in groups of 10 to the lift and sent them up to face a day in their cells and an inquiry by Warden Simpson.

Board Well Pleased. The members of the administrative board, who had been at the scene since early yesterday, planned the day break of the riot. Simpson said he would investigate to determine the ringleaders and punish them. Nathan (Cow Boy) Van Meter, pit boss in the mine, estimated at least two weeks will be required to repair the damage and resume operations. Van Meter, who was a wall guard shot and wounded the Urchel kidnaper, Harvey Shapiro, as he escaped in the Memorial Day break of 1933, was one of the hostages of the rioters.

Robbery Suspect Arrested Missouri

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., June 20.—(P)—After a 24-hour search, officers today captured a man and a woman, companions of a bandit suspect shot to death near here yesterday, and accused of holding up a Popular Buick Mo. night club Wednesday night.

Sergeant Nathan Masie of the state highway patrol said the captured man bore his name as Charles Hendrickson of Shreveport, La. He identified the man slain yesterday as "Lee Allen" and told Sergeant Masie he met "Allen" and the woman, Margaret Dewey, Okla. He said he knew the woman only as "Margaret."

The prisoner's statement, Masie said, dispelled any theory that the dead man might have been Harry Campbell, indicted Bremer kidnaper. Hendrickson, when questioned about the Popular Buick holdup in which Oscar Murphy, a musician, was shot and wounded, said, "I don't want to talk until I've seen a lawyer."

DALLAS CONTENDERS WOULD OUST ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT FROM POST

FORT WORTH CHAIRMAN YOUNG DEMOCRATS HEAR CHARGES ON MERITS

DALLAS, June 19.—(P)—Rumors of contention among Texas Democrats were heard today after it was revealed a plan was on foot to oust Elliott Roosevelt from the vice-presidency of the Young Democratic Clubs of Texas.

Phil Overton of Dallas, a member of the state democratic executive committee, said the movement to remove the President's son would be launched Friday at a meeting of the Dallas County Young Democrats.

Overton said he would introduce a resolution demanding Roosevelt's removal "because he had attempted to have the state convention at Amarillo go on record in favor of a proposed constitutional amendment overriding the supreme court's outlawing the NRA."

He also said Roosevelt was elected to office at a special meeting of the executive committee for which no notice was sent.

State Executive Committee Chairman Raymond Buck of Fort Worth answered that "whatever complaint any member of the organization has to make will be heard and passed upon at the meeting of the executive committee, July 10."

Young Roosevelt, who lives at Fort Worth, said that in accepting the position he was trying to be helpful instead of seeking honors.

"If Overton or others feel that someone else can do the job better than I," he said, "I will be glad to let them have the place."

Last week reports were current that John L. McCarran of Daltah planned to resign as president of the Texas club in order to elevate Roosevelt to that office.

Private ownership and operation of merchant and aerial transportation with government subsidy has resulted in a saturnalia of waste, inefficiency, unearned exorbitant salaries and bonuses and other forms of "compensation," corrupting expense accounts, exploitation of the public by the sale and manipulation of the stock values which are largely based on the hope of profit from robbing the taxpayer.

Subsidy Program Explained. This whole subsidy program of the past dozen years, the report explained, was based on an attempt to build up a merchant marine. But it stated that the 43 "mail pay" contracts in effect under the Jones-White act, only 20 required building new ships. Of 51 ships called for in the contracts, only 28 have been built.

The report was packed with instances in which it was alleged, companies violated the "letter" of the contracts to "pipe" profits into their own tills instead of devoting the money to building up the merchant marine.

The report said J. B. Grace, president of the W. R. Grace and Company, operator of several Grace Lines, together with banking and other business interests, received in 1928 a salary, commission and dividend of $71,680.

As another instance the committee declared that R. Stanley Dollar received from his Dollar Steamship line and Admiral Oriental line a salary of $100,000 incident to the purchase of ships from the United States government at low prices.

The report said the Admiral Oriental line with a $800 capitalization, operated government-owned ships at a net profit of $400,000 in three years and five months.

As another item the report cited: "The Roosevelt Steamship company, which took over the line from the United States government in 1920, with a then outstanding capital of $22,000, made profits under a lump sum agreement from 1931 to 1933 inclusive of $371,867."

Competitive bidding was evaded, the report charged, and it quoted W. Irving Glover, former second assistant postmaster general, as saying in connection with the negotiation of one contract that "I think it is well to word your advertisement so that it might fall into the lap of the Cuban Steamship company."

The statement was made, the report said, during an executive meeting in which the awarding of contracts was discussed.

Following Mitchell charges, the report comes at a time when some senators are seeking an investigation of accusations hurled at the commerce department in connection with ship subsidy by Ewing W. Mitchell, who was removed as assistant secretary of commerce last week by President Roosevelt.

Mitchell contended that a contract, consummated by Secretary Roper for laying up the liner Leviathan was "against the public interest" and that "those interested in the company, including P. A. B. Franklin, John M. Franklin, Vincent Astor and Kermie Roosevelt," would benefit by it.

Senator McCarran made known he is prepared to demand that the accusations be investigated by Chairman Bingham's committee, if the senate commerce committee does not inquire into them. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) plans to ask that the commerce committee call Mitchell, whose general charges included an allegation that "favoritism and graft abound" in the commerce and other departments.

SUBSIDY POLICIES DENOUNCED BY MAIL PROBE COMMITTEE

DEMAND DRASTIC TERMS FOR ANY FUTURE GOVERNMENT AID

By PRESTON L. GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, June 19.—(P)—Charging that ship subsidy policy is "a saturnalia of waste, inefficiency, unearned exorbitant salaries and bonuses and other forms of 'compensation,' corrupting expense accounts, exploitation of the public by the sale and manipulation of the stock values which are largely based on the hope of profit from robbing the taxpayer."

Frankly advocating government ownership and operation of merchant marine, the committee nevertheless conceded that bitter opposition would prevent this and so it recommended an alternative plan of "government ownership and private operation, the operation to be subsidized where this is proved necessary."

Dissection In Committee. The committee consists of five members, of whom only two signed the report without reservation. They were Senators Black (D-Ill.), chairman, and McCarran (D-Nev.), Senator King (D-Utah) signed it with the reservation that he disagreed with any form of subsidy. He proposed tariff adjustments and other legislation to build up a merchant marine.

KEMP ASKS APPLICANTS FUNDS TO CONSIDER MERITS OF ALL TEXAS HISTORICAL SHRINES

AUSTIN, June 19.—(P)—L. W. Kemp of Houston, chairman of the Texas Centennial Historical Advisory Board, today admonished applicants for allotments from a $750,000 fund to consider merits of all historical places in presenting requests.

Kemp explained the board intended to get a complete historical picture of all Texas and on that basis apportion the funds on merits of each place. The fund was provided in a $3,000,000 Centennial appropriation. Dallas, site of the central exposition, was allotted $1,000,000 for buildings and $200,000 for equipment. The bill, Houston and San Antonio, $250,000 each; publicity, $500,000; and equipping a museum at the University of Texas, 225,000. An allocation of $25,000 was considered for a monument to pioneer women, for which the bill directed a substantial apportionment.

Other members of the historical advisory board, including the reception of requests were Father Paul J. Folk, professor of history at St. Edwards university, Austin, and J. Frank Doble, professor of history at the University of Texas, "Lexington of Texas."

Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales applied for an allocation for the "Lexington of Texas," equal to the largest amount to be placed. He contended Gonzales' history entitled it to as much as allotted San Antonio or Houston. But said the area would be satisfied if placed the maximum allotted any place.

He requested specifically an heroic monument on the site where the first shot was fired in Texas' fight for independence, asserting they wanted "no present to blow away with the wind, but something enduring so the world will know our wonderful history."

Only one request requested $30,000 for a monument depicting the history of Fort Parker, from which Indians captured Cynthia Ann Parker. It would start next May the 100th anniversary of the fall of the fort between Goliad and Groesbeck. The delegation also proposed erection of a typical Indian village of a century ago.

Goliad wants $50,000, of which $30,000 would be used for erection of a monument to Fannin and his martyred men; $5,000 for a memorial to Senora Alvarez, the "Angel of Goliad," and $15,000 for 640,204 in three years and five months.

As another item the report cited: "The Roosevelt Steamship company, which took over the line from the United States government in 1920, with a then outstanding capital of $22,000, made profits under a lump sum agreement from 1931 to 1933 inclusive of $371,867."

EVIDENCE LINKS FOUR PERSONS IN $200,000 KIDNAP

EARLY INDICTMENT AGAINST EX-CONVICT AND YOUNG WIFE EXPECTED

TACOMA, Wash., June 19.—(P)—Evidence allegedly linking four persons with the $200,000 kidnaping of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser was ready for presentation today before a federal grand jury.

J. Charles Dennis, United States district attorney, who will present the evidence in the secrecy of the jury chamber, said he did not believe it would take the jury long to return indictments against Harmon M. Waley, ex-convict; his young wife, William Mahan and an unnamed suspect.

The Waleys, who were reported to have disclosed much of the plot to federal agents, were held in solitary confinement in the Thurston county jail. Mahan, a bank robber and a nation-wide search, indictments are sought under the Lindbergh kidnap law, which carries a death penalty if the victim is harmed, and extortion laws, which carry a maximum penalty of 20 years.

The co-ed did not betray her verdict when the jury's verdict was read in district court last night, but her family's conditions soon brought tears. The jury had set the penalty in convicting her on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Shaw was not present in the old courtroom. After waiting several hours to hear the verdict, he had left in mid-afternoon for Honolulu to visit relatives and "regain his health complete."

The girl will be sentenced Monday by Judge O. H. P. Brewer. W. Miller, her chief counsel, said he was not certain whether the case would be appealed.

On the angle of the extortion notes, which the girl said so frightened her that she shot in fear of her life, "intending to show him the trial brought out merely an assertion by prosecutors that her sister, Lelia, wrote them, and a flat counter assertion from the sister that she did not."

Under federal court procedure, the Waleys, said by department of justice agents to have confessed the $200,000 kidnaping, may plead guilty immediately and be sentenced forthwith.

District Judge E. E. Cushman, however, might ask to hear testimony tendered to show their individual parts in the case, in which case they might be tried before a petit jury next week. Also the Waleys might ask for time in which to plead.

If the Waleys decide to stand on the "not guilty" plea they entered when arraigned in commissioner's court on holding charges recently, they are expected to be rushed to trial, probably next week.

Several courses were open to Harmon Waley, ex-convict, and his wife today as they prepared for arraignment on federal charges growing out of the kidnaping of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.

A federal grand jury after a quick appraisal of the government case yesterday indicted the Waleys and their fugitive co-defendant, William Mahan, for violation of the Lindbergh kidnaping law; conspiracy to kidnap and using the mails for sending extortion notes.

A FRIEND CALLS
"Come in!" I said and in he stepped,
And as we wandered to and fro
Into my mind the fancy left
That we should never let him go.
So long we'd waited for his call
The friend who hadn't found our door,
And now he stood within the hall
To dwell with us forevermore.
Oh, yes, he left when night came down,
But as we watched him turn the street
Upon his journey into town
Our little home seemed more complete.
We've this to say forevermore:
"This is the hook that held his hat."
Those are the books he pondered
o'er!
And that's the chair wherein he sat.
Tis strange how Time with fragrance steeped
Our little trinkets, one and all,
And memory cherishes and keeps
The friends who come on us to call.

ROMANTIC GOLD

The latest gold romance concerns a cargo worth $5-000,000, sunk in a Russian galleon near Helsingfors, Finland, in the Russo-Swedish war of 1721. It lay undisturbed on the bottom of the Gulf of Finland, until,
just a few days ago, divers got hawsers around the old hull and started bringing it to the surface. The salvaging work was based on an old log book recently discovered in the archives of a historic family belonging to the Swedish nobility.
This adventure, if it pans
out as the salvagers hope,
will parallel a recent operation by an Italian company, which obtained $5-000,000 in gold and silver from the wreck of the liner
Egypt off the French coast.
Such work is greatly facilitated now by the invention of the new diving bell which can operate at the depth of a mile—about as deep as men have gone for gold in the earth. There remains a great deal of lost gold to be salvaged from the sea bottom. All such treasure, however, is but a handful of the gold available from sea water, if a cheap process for its extraction can be perfected.
If that happens, it may be the last big gold romance.
If gold were plentiful, it would become cheap like other commodities, and would probably lose its money value, becoming merely a useful metal for art and industry.

ucated young men and women.

A writer in the New York Times adds that last year six out of seven Columbia University graduates had jobs by fall, and this year the prospects are still better.

The younger generation,
he adds, is lucky. Whatever may happen to parents and grandparents, the children have their opportunity. If world conditions improve,
they will have their share.
If things go to smash, they will take over the reconstruction job. The new systems will rest on young shoulders.

Some of the youngsters
may not relish this outlook.
Many of them would prefer the stability of a settled order, and they face a very slim chance of getting it.
But at least, they should find life interesting.

The China berry tree
that Ripley tells about,
bearing cherries, blackberries, acorns, walnuts, pecans and China berries, is no stranger than some family trees dug up by genealogical experts.

With her compulsory cheese law, Wisconsin becomes almost as cheesy as Holland, where an American traveler swears he was offered 17 kinds of cheese
for breakfast.

"There ought to be a law," used to be our national motto. But it worked too well. Now there's a law for everything, and we're trying to repeal it.

PARLIAMENTARY PAY.

Members of Great Britain's House of Commons, known as the hardest-working body of legislators in the world, are asking a raise in pay.

The legislative life of a British M. P. is more arduous than that of an American congressman in the House of Representatives.
The British parliament in session regularly seven months a year and five days a week. The usual hours are from 2:30 p. m.
to 11 p. m., but when there is something important under consideration the session may last right through the night. Friday is a special day. Effort is made then to sit only from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. Sometimes the effort is not successful.

For this real job, the member of parliament receives 400 pounds a year,
a little less than $2,000.
American representatives receive $10,000 a year.
Normally congress is in session about six months a year, and there are frequent adjournments during any session which make short days, and even short weeks.

Offhand, an American would say those M. P.'s deserve a raise. That may not be the way their own constituents feel, however.
And what about the pay of our congressmen? Is it too low, or high, or about right?

BEER LEADERSHIP

A group of 10 brewers
from all parts of Germany recently came to the United States to make a tour of large American breweries.
They will visit Milwaukee,
St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia. They are particularly eager to observe American methods of mass production and systems of bottling, cooling and distribution. The American brewing industry has advanced in these lines far beyond that of Europe, they say.

Here is an honor many Americans did not know their country rated. Stronger beverages attract so much more attention and argument that we overlook
our prominence in brewing. Many citizens will regard success in this industry as nothing to be proud of, but others will say enterprise and leadership and progress are worth while in any undertaking.

As the Supreme Court
judges start their summer vacation, the President
waves his hand and says:
"Take all the time you want, gentlemen."

A PROFITABLE RACKET

Seven Americans won in the last Irish sweepstakes.
According to published estimates of the ticket sales in this country, 2,443,000
lost. That means one chance in 350,000. The amount won by these seven was about $150,000 apiece, altogether a little over $1-000,000 out of which Uncle Sam will take a big bite in the form of an income tax.
The amount paid by all Americans investing in this gamble was about $6,000-000.

Is it worth the money?
Certainly not as an investment. As a gamble—well, that's different. Maybe the average better got $2.50
worth of thrill.

Anyway, the Irish hospitals are flourishing. In five years they have collected $20,000,000 from Americans through this racket.

SLIGHTLY LESS THAN INCH RAIN FELL LAST NIGHT

Accompanied by considerable wind and lightning, 70 of an inch of rain fell in Corsicana within a few minutes early Monday night.
No material damage has been reported from any section of the county, from the rain, wind or lightning. A portion of the walls of the fire-gutted McKie building at the corner of Main and Collin streets, was blown down by the wind.

The rain was not heavy enough to cause any additional overflows of the creeks of the county and did no damage to crops.
Kerens and the eastern section of the county reported the heaviest rain. An inch of rain fell in Kerens according to the official gauge. The total rainfall for that section during the past few days is two inches. Joe Sheppard, weather observer reported.

Dawson reported only .45 of an inch of rain Monday night with a total for the past few days of 2.78 inches. These figures were furnished by the Dawson Herald.

The total rainfall here for the past few days is 2.18 inches.
Farm work will be delayed a few days by the rain Monday night. Work has been completed in most of the crops with the exception of cotton and the farmers will soon catch up in that department.

Oats have been cut and only threshing remains and that will be started soon if the fair weather continues.

A few trees were broken by the wind at the State Home. No damage was done.

House Leaders to Abandon Gag Rule To Speed Measures

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP)—
House leaders today have declared tentatively not to try to impose another "gag rule" this session to push through contested legislation.
The procedure yesterday through which the $501,991,000 "nuisance" tax measure was passed came within five votes of being defeated.
It was a drastic rule forbidding amendments and limiting debate to 40 minutes on a side. The vote

GALLOWS IS FINAL CHAPTER IN LIFE OF ADAM RICCHETTI

KANSAS CITY, June 18.—(AP)— Adam Richetti, the sawed little gunman, contemplated death on the gallows today as state and federal officials prepared to close the book of official vengeance for the mass slaying of five men at the Union Station here two years ago.
Richetti, Missouri and Oklahoma gangster, was convicted last night of murder by a Jackson county (Kansas City) jury that assessed the death penalty.
With his conviction the law marked off the last of the three accused as the actual slayers of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, slain in a desperate delivery attempt.
Verne C. Miller died under the torture of fellow gangsters at Detroit.
In an Ohio farm community (Pretty Boy) Floyd, notorious Oklahoma gunman, fell under the bullets of federal and county officers.
"This is a hell of a thing to wake a man up for," was Richetti's only comment after the verdict was read. He had been

UNITED CHARITIES BADLY IN NEED OF FUNDS TO CONTINUE WORK; MAKE GENERAL APPEAL

The present condition of the United Charities was explained and an urgent appeal was made for funds for the summer months at the board meeting held Wednesday morning at the United Charities office at 10 o'clock.
After discussion by all of the members regarding the best way of soliciting funds, it was decided that a general appeal will be made for a small amount from each person holding a job in the city.
The large voluntary subscriptions, which usually allow the organization to continue its work,
have almost died out, it was reported, and it is necessary to turn to this way for funds.
"Since people have learned that the government is taking charge of the poor, they think it relieves them of any obligation," R. L.
Hamilton, president of the board of directors, said. "The government is not doing our kind of work—that of helping people to help themselves."
Miss Augusta Helm explained
the difference in the work of the two offices. "A lot of people need things who are really not bad enough off to be on relief,"
she said. "We want to help those families which sickness, or some other adversity, temporarily keeps them, from earning their daily bread."
At the conclusion of the meeting, Ted B. Ferguson was nomi-

Courthouse News

District Court. The Court of Criminal Appeals, Austin, Wednesday reversed and remanded the case of Jim Garrison from Navarro county according to copies of the opinion of the court received Thursday by District Judge J. S. Callicutt and attorneys. The verdict was reversed and remanded according to the opinion, for the arguments of state's attorney (John R. Curington) and also for the exhibiting of the bloody shirt of Aude Washburn for whose death Garrison was tried. The opinion also said the trial court (Norris Lovett) erred in not charging the jury that the jury was the sole judges of the facts proven, credibility of witnesses and weight given of testimony.

Garrison was convicted and sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary early this year on a murder indictment in connection with the fatal shooting of Aude Washburn at Garrison's home near Wildcat Ferry, southeast Navarro county, Dec. 24, 1934. Mays and Mays were defense attorneys and appealed the case after a motion for a new trial was denied by Judge Lovett. The Navarro county grand jury recessed late Wednesday and Friday morning when the investigators will inspect the county farm, jail, hospital and other county institutions. No indictments were returned Wednesday. ## Texan Imprisoned In Soviet Camp; Had Hoped Convert Reds

MOSCOW, June 20.—(AP)—The United States embassy bent its efforts today toward returning to the United States Ernest Baker of Menard, Texas, who is in a society detention camp near Minsk and is enjoying it.

Baker, a 38-year-old bricklayer was arrested for illegal entry last September, after walking into Russia to convert the Bolsheviks to the "right way of living," but only recently did word of his plight reach the embassy.

Secretary Angus T. Ward went to the camp immediately in an attempt to aid the Texan. Ward said he found Baker in excellent spirits, with plenty to eat and comfortable quarters, praising the treatment he has received from the Soviets.

The secretary said Baker told him he left Texas in February of last year, worked his way to Europe and set out afoot for Russia to preach his ideals to the Bolsheviks.

No Decision Reached. WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today that no decision as to what is to be done about Ernest Elmer Baker, self-styled religious crusader, who hitch-hiked to Soviet Russia in an avowed effort to convert that nation to Christianity.

The American embassy in Moscow investigated the case when first advised of it. Hull explained that he will take whatever action is necessary.

The state department has no fund for the repatriation of Americans who wander around the world and go broke and Hull advanced no suggestion as to how much money might be raised to return Baker to his Texas home from the frontier detention camp near Minsk where he is held by Soviet authorities.

Corporation Court. A negro was fined Thursday morning on an affray charge by Judge H. S. Baker as a result of an altercation late Wednesday night in which two negroes were involved. One of the negroes received a slight knife wound in the back while the other sustained a punctured hand from an ice pick thrust.

City and county officers reported Wednesday the quietest "June" in their memories.

Fisk Jubilee Singers Will Appear Here

The citizens of Corsicana are invited to attend the Fisk Jubilee Singers' concert at the Jackson High school auditorium, Friday, June 21, at 8 o'clock.

This is the first time this year that we have asked the public to assemble to make a contribution to the only charity appealing institution in the city for colored people. We have invited this famous band of singers to appear here on this occasion, and since these singers are known the world over, we expect and look for a most pleasing program.

The program will be under the auspices of the Community Center and we ask the public to respond in great numbers to help this cause.

These singers need no introduction, for they are world singers—G. W. Jackson.

Tickets for white people are available at Johnson's Drug Store.

BEAUTY CHATS

By EDNA KENT FORBES

ALL requests for beauty information should be sent to Miss Edna Kent Forbes, care of the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Light, P.O. Box 100, Corsicana, Texas. For the illustrated version, "BEAUTY," ten cents in stamps will fully satisfy the request. Address Miss Forbes in care of this paper.

THESE THINGS DAILY

If you follow the daily routine which Miss Forbes describes in the Beauty Chats, you must always look well groomed—which is more than half the battle toward good looks.

These are the things which the well groomed woman does every day, to keep her good looks at their maximum. To assure herself that every thing possible is being done to keep off middle age. The wise woman once said that these days we have no beautiful women and ugly ones, but only those who take care of their appearance, and the careless ones.

Daily then! The most thorough cleansing of the skin, by any method she likes, soap, water or cold cream. Daily, or rather nightly, the nourishing cream or oil for wrinkles or a dry skin. Daily the stimulating treatment too, either a circulation ointment, to freshen a tired face, or else cold water or a skin tonic.

Daily the nails are scrubbed, cleaned, oiled and the soft cuticle pushed back. Daily the hands are rubbed with a bleaching hand lotion—nightly of course and probably during the day as well. The elbows are treated then as well, and if in bad shape, they are oiled too, at bedtime.

Daily is some sort of exercise taken to strengthen the body, especially those tricky muscles around the waistline, which will allow a flabby or a full abdomen to appear and permit that thickening of the figure which ruins young slim lines. Daily are the toe nails oiled and each toe given the quickest massage and the large toe nail to each foot worked around on its socket, to prevent bunions. Daily is oil or cream used on the heels, for calloused heels are ugly and often uncomfortable as well. Daily, perhaps are the feet rubbed with hand lotion, especially the soles of the feet, which become dry.

A lot? No, not so much. It can all be done in ten minutes, with five more the face treatment and a quick rubbing of the scalp. The trick is to get these treatments down to a system, then they go fast.

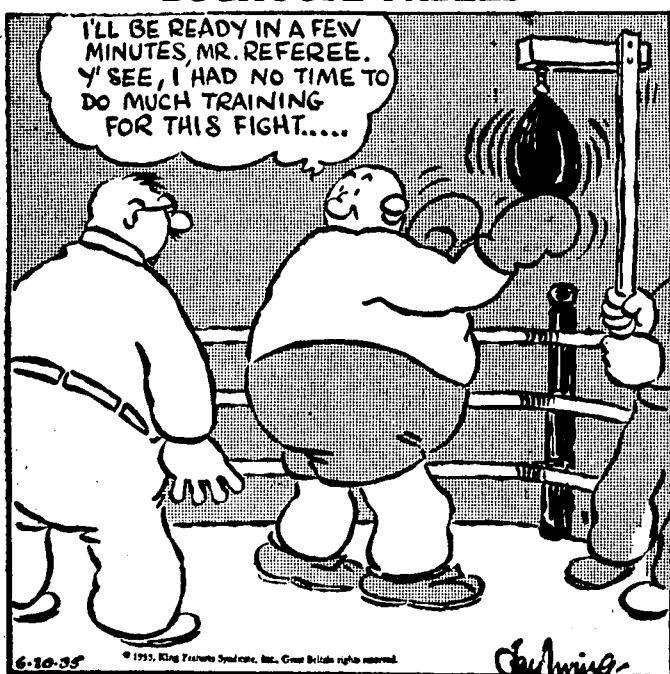

M. F.—Whatever benefit you will derive from a simple skin bleach will be over in half an hour. Bathe the skin at night and give it the loss of natural oil from the bleaching material. Lemon juice, or the juice from a cucumber, will make very nice bleaches that will not be harmful to the skin in any way. Some oil will be needed even when such simple bleaches as these fruit and vegetable juices are used.

E. V. N.—Plain peroxide should bleach the color from the hairs on your legs, but if you do not succeed with it, you could use the white henna. If you have not tried the double strength peroxide, you might experiment with that, as using either strength peroxide will mean so much less work for you than having to go through with the process of bleaching with the white henna. Peroxide that has been uncorked or been standing around for a long time after some of it has been used from the bottle, will have lost much of its bleaching strength.

K. P.—If the puffiness under your eyes continues for any length of time, better have the doctor care for it. A cold or a temporary disorder in the system may cause swelling under the eyes, but it should not continue after the difficulty is over. Mrs. G.—The windmill exercise is pretty much what its name implies, such as swinging of the arms and bending the body at the waistline, to effect the full round movements from the feet to as far above the head as the arms will stretch. One arm will be taking the lower curve, while the other is on the upward swing.

SELLING MOVEMENT IN STOCK MARKET GREETED TAX PLAN

FURTHER CORRECTIVE REACTION PARTLY DUE TO TECHNICAL FACTORS

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—Another selling wave unsettled the stock market today, but after an early sharp decline, support appeared for various sections of the market.

The reaction was attributed partly to technical influences and partly to the fact that the market was placed on the president's share-the-wealth tax program. The close was somewhat heavy. Transfers approximated 970,000 shares.

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—A selling movement in the stock market today greeted the President's new share-the-wealth tax program.

While analysts were inclined to attribute the drop in prices largely to technical factors, it was pointed out at the same time that a further corrective reaction in the list was partly due to technical factors and was not to be construed as exceptionally significant.

Grains, cotton and most other commodities took their cue from equities and backed up substantially. Bonds were irregular but not notably heavy. Foreign exchange rates were narrow.

Declines of fractions to 2 or more points were recorded by such stocks as American, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific National Distillers, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, International Harvester, Case, National Biscuit, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears, Roebuck, Du Pont, Columbia, Western Union and Van Munching.

Power and light issues were resistant, as were scattered rails, oils and metals. U. S. Smelting, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Consolidated Gas, and American Electric Power and Standard Oil of California were about unchanged to slightly lower.

In addition to the tax proposal, the market was unsettled by the death of B. T. Franklin, a Texas and Pacific yardmaster, who died of heart disease at a gala event in town, damaging several buildings and unroofing the First Baptist church. Three persons were injured sufficiently to be hospitalized.

Meanwhile, in South Texas, Wharton remained largely under water and isolated by the flooded Colorado river. Only one spot in the Wharton district, near the court house, and a few high knolls in the residential area were not covered with water.

At 8 a. m., however, the waters had receded somewhat, and the flood was being fed from three rolling kitchens supplied by the national guard.

Wharton, Jan. 20.—(AP)—With only a few high spots in the city remaining out of water, Wharton got a measure of cheer today out of the fact that the Colorado was stationary during the night.

The reading at 8 a. m. today was 38.12, the same of 10 p. m. yesterday, and it was believed that the worst of the flood danger was past.

Wharton was isolated by flood waters, which reached for a distance of several miles around the town.

Northern Pacific was attempting to run trains. Bus service stopped when the waters swirled over the highways in every direction.

Only one spot in the Wharton district, near the court house, and a few high knolls in the residential area were not covered with water.

The inundation measured from a new line in some sections to several feet in the lower areas. City officials would make no estimate of the damage. They said they could only wait until the water had receded to take stock.

"It will be heavy, though," one said.

City officials and American Legion officers were concentrating their efforts on feeding the thousands of persons driven from their homes.

Three rolling kitchens of the national guard were kept busy feeding the thousands of persons driven from their homes.

CROWDS GATHER AT AIRPORT SEE "IRON MAN OF MEXICO" LEAVE ON VOLUNTARY POLITICAL EXILE

By CLARK LEE Associated Press Staff Writer

MEXICO, D. F., June 18.—(AP)—Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, "the Iron Man of Mexico," flew north today to voluntary political exile to his home in the United States.

The former president took a specially chartered plane for El Tambo, in Sinaloa, where he was accompanied by Dr. Ayala Gonzalez, Dr. R. Blank, four men aides, and a woman secretary.

Most of the public regards Calles' departure as a sign of the end of his political career. He has lost power but the 'desperado' his friends accorded him at his departure indicated the contrary.

At least three former cabinet ministers as well as several powerful army generals were among the several hundred persons who crowded around the former president to shake his hand.

The presence at the "Desperado" of Emilio Portes Gil, former president and now head of the national revolutionary party, was regarded as most significant.

But today Calles chatted in a friendly manner with Portes Gil.

Several United States businessmen were also present. One, the manager of one of the largest foreign companies in Mexico, commented that he still can't believe he is leaving and wants to believe it less.

His statement on economic conditions last Thursday, which precipitated the political crisis, was a sane and sensible view of the situation. If the present crisis is averted, the country will be forced to leave Mexico in six months, and without the restraining influence of Calles, we are afraid of the consequences.

Members of the cabinet appointed Interior—Silvana Barba Gonzalez. Foreign Affairs—Fernando Gonzalez.

Not long ago—when the solid bonus had been considered—Morgenthau proposed stiff inheritance taxes to foot the bill.

One administration leader said privately he understood Mr. Roosevelt would like to see such inheritance taxes—estimated to return $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 a year—approved.

One obstacle appeared. Any move to attach higher levies to the $500,000 bill would almost certainly mean a change of the beyond June 30, meaning a loss in revenue of $1,500,000 a day in "nuisance" taxes.

LaFollette promised today to offer an amendment calling for income tax collection to be made by the "handout" and the messenger stalked from the room.

"He was probably right at that," commented the correspondent.

Congressman Cross Not Be Candidate
WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Representative O. H. Cross of the 11th Texas congressional district said today he had decided definitely not to be a candidate for reelection in the 1936 primaries.

"When my present term is up, I will have been in congress eight years and while I have the consolation of knowing that I have given to my district and country my best thought and untiring efforts, it is about all the balance sheet shows," Cross said in a statement.

"In spite of what is generally thought, this is no money-making job and so I feel I owe it to my country to do so. I have a heart full of gratitude to a people who have never permitted me to suffer defeat."

Cross is a member of the house but has no constituency allocation for flood control works on the Brazos river in Texas.

RICHARD C. REHM TAKEN TO SHERMAN FOR SECOND TRIAL

Girl Employee Weep

Several girl employees of Calles burst into tears as the general said, "Adios," but he told them not to worry. "I am so healthy," he said, "that not even a finger nail aches."

A new cabinet took office under President Cardenas today, more conservative than had been expected.

The incoming government, with the exception of Fernando Gonzalez, Ros, former ambassador to Washington, and General Francisco J. Mujica, the only holdover, was composed of men who never have held important office.

The only man whose name had been mentioned in connection with the announcement of the incoming secretaries was General Saturnino Cedillo, Agrarian leader of San Luis Potosi, who in the past of secretary of agriculture, was expected to dominate the new government.

With the political crisis settled definitely, more than 5,000 delegates met for the second day's session of the convention of the new government.

Rotarians Get Explanation
The rotarians were given a first-hand explanation of conditions in Mexico by President Cardenas yesterday.

He stressed the constitutionality of his government.

Mexico is determined within its laws, he asserted, to remove economic inequalities and injustices, and to aid the vast masses of Indian and Mexican population.

The delegates, assembled in the main auditorium of the palace of fine arts, applauded the president when he told them they were welcome to aid or be ashamed of his government.

Group meetings to discuss internal organization subjects were the principal feature of today's Rotary program.

Cowardly Juries Scored By Judge In Assessing Federal Death Penalty

MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 19.—(AP)—The first execution under the Lindbergh kidnaping law was decreed today by Federal Judge R. L. Williams, who sentenced Arthur Gooch, "small time" Texas and Oklahoma outlaw, to the Friday, Sept. 13, for kidnaping two Paris, Texas, officers last November.

The death penalty was recommended by a Durant jury at the close of Gooch's trial on the kidnaping charge.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed by Judge Williams, stern jurist who criticized a jury two days after Gooch's conviction for not asking death for a bank robber, Gooch replied:

"I think there have been worse crimes than mine and I don't see why I should hang."

Judge Williams replied: "That's your only argument... but other juries have been cowardly."

Victim Was Injured.

The amended "Lindbergh" law makes the death penalty possible of the kidnaped victim is harmed. When Gooch and a companion, Ambrose Nix, slain in officers, released R. N. Baker and H. R. Marks in the mountains of Southeastern Oklahoma, Baker's hip had been seriously injured, allegedly in a fight with the abductors in a still station.

Gooch was arrested near Okemah December 23, by department of justice agents investigating the double bank robbery staged there the day before. Gooch and Nix, whom investigators named as his companion in the kidnaping, chose to fight. Nix was slain. The next day, when Gooch was taken from the Okemah jail, a filing station, officers tried to shoot him with an old-fashioned double barreled pistol, crying the prisoner had robbed him five times.

He was first arrested at Okemah in 1930 and charged with forgery. That charge was dropped. A year later he drew 18 months for auto theft. Next he got a year for grand larceny. Twice he jumped bond on larceny charges. The Holdenville jail held him no closer than his larceny bonds, for on October 25, last year, he, Nix, another man and two women escaped after the 67-year old jailer had been slugged with an iron pipe.

Accused Other Kidnapings.

In that fight investigators said, Gooch and Nix forced two persons to accompany them in a kidnaping, the sequel of which had Gooch up for sentencing today. The pair was accused of kidnaping C. C. Holcomb, Holdenville, Okla., and his son, Jerold, who were released several hours later—still in Oklahoma.

The shadow of the gallows sprang today from a legal technicality, which Gooch might have avoided. The death penalty was not possible under the indictment on which his first trial was scheduled, but he evaded that trial successfully. At the next trial, which brought conviction, the indictment had been amended. Its wording opened the way to the extreme penalty.

The condemned man's mother, wife, and three-year-old son have lived quietly at Okmulgee while he brushed with the law.

J. N. EDENS HEADS PLANNING BOARD NAMED BY MAYOR

A city planning board to work with municipal authorities in the procuring of projects for the city to employ relief labor and to make permanent improvements was organized Monday afternoon after appointment by Mayor J. S. Murchison.

J. N. Edens was elected chairman and A. F. Mitchell was selected as secretary. Other members of the committee are R. L. Hamilton, Ted B. Ferguson, C. L. Jester and W. P. McCammon. The meeting was held in the city hall. Engineers will prepare plans and specifications for an extensive repair project on city streets to be submitted to the planning board next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Included in the proposed improvements are the removal of the street car rails, repairs over the entire paved system where needed and additional oiling of streets and other improvements.

It was brought out that the street improvement project will be the ranking proposal and extensive improvements at Lake Halbert inlets where mud dams will be constructed and repaving and rip-rapping of the main lake dam would be the second project.

Lowering of shallow water mains, installation of another main to the city from the lake, additions to the sewer disposal plant, gutters, etc. were discussed and will likely be taken up at later meetings.

It was brought out that under the new set-up of the relief headquarters, Corsicana will be entitled to 600 laborers available. Wm. V. Williams and W. M. McClelland, city engineers, were present in addition to the planning committee and Mayor Murchison.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP)—Chairman Harry Hines of the Texas highway commission, and D. K. Martin, a member, told Senators Sheppard and Connally today they believed that highway improvement would be the best way to relieve unemployment in Texas.

CHAMBER COMMERCE DIRECTORS DISCUSS ROUTINE BUSINESS

NO ACTION BUS TERMINAL; SECRET ADVERTISING COMMITTEE NAMED

Routine matters occupied the attention of the directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in the directors' room of the State National Bank building.

It was reported that the CCC camp near Lake Halbert, soil erosion unit, had been practically completed. It was stated that the cost of the camp buildings approximated $18,000.

Ted B. Ferguson of the industrial development committee reported a query sent here relative to Corsicana as a site for a cheese making establishment.

Lowry Martin, chairman of the civic and publicity committee, reported that no progress had been made in the proposed securing of a bus terminal for Corsicana and his report was concurred in by Mayor J. S. Murchison. A resolution was passed by the directors asking that the city authorities pass an ordinance regulating bus traffic within the city limits.

Advertising Committee.

President E. W. Ellis was authorized to appoint a secret advertising censorship committee to investigate and report on the proposals submitted members, to find out all facts, etc., connected with the propositions and pass the findings along to those interested.

It was reported that an application has been sent to the Centennial control commission in Austin, asking that $5,250 be appropriated for the making of a suitable park and monument at the Battle Creek battleground about two miles west of Dawson where 22 engineers were attacked by hostile Indians and 15 were slain with five severely wounded.

Considerable discussion was held relative to hazards, burned buildings, etc., following fires both in the business and residential sections of the community, with debris, etc., remaining on the sidewalks and in the streets for months at a time. Mayor J. S. Murchison reported that arrangements had been perfected for the razing of the Johnson buildings, walls, etc., at the corner of West Collin and Main streets, Wednesday. A section of the north wall collapsed late Monday night during a wind storm but no one was injured. The wall fell into the inside of the building, which burned April 21.

The application of A. F. Mitchell, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, for a six week's vacation without pay, beginning July 1, was granted, and the directors will take time about in acting as secretary for a week each.

Sick and Convalescent.

Word received from the family of F. B. McKie, who underwent an operation at the Mayo Brothers Clinic yesterday is that he is resting very well today.

Word has been received from Corpus Christi that O. L. Abbot, who is in the Spohn hospital there is that his case has been diagnosed, and he shows general improvement. He is expected to be confined to the hospital about 30 days.

Bridge Damaged.

A bridge spanning the new Chambers creek channel between Emhouse and Rice has been extensively damaged. The abutments and approaches on both sides have been swept away, leaving the span standing high above the surrounding area.

Damages sustained to bridges and abutments in the creek bottoms in various sections of the county can not be determined until a thorough check has been made. Commissioner Megarity pointed out. A large damage resulted several weeks ago in all four precincts due to the high water. The present loss is not expected to reach the amount of the previous floods, however, as overflows occurred only on Richmond and Chambers creeks from torrential rains in Ellis and Hill counties. Creeks and other streams draining only Navarro county territory did not overflow last week end.

Secret Vote For Rotary President

MEXICO, D. F., June 20.—(AP)—A secret vote for the presidency of Rotary International started today, with two nominees, Ed R. Johnson of Roanoke, Va., first vice-president in 1933-34, and Donata Gaminara of Montevideo, Uruguay, present vice president. The result will be announced tomorrow.

More than 5,400 delegates—far exceeding expectations—have registered for the annual convention, by asking $100,000,000 for this work, to create the impression in Texas was seeking "more than its proportionate share of the work-relief administration."

"We simply are bringing to our attention the representative impression we believe whatever Texas' share of the work-relief fund could be used best on highways," Hines said. "We have an open air type of people in Texas and that is the kind of work they could do well."

Hines said the visitors were spending the first few days of their visit here canvassing the possibility of obtaining a huge sum for road work and tomorrow would report back to Hines at a closed meeting.

"Then," Hines said, "we will be able to proceed with the work we find out this meeting if there's anything up here we can do but didn't know about and if so take advantage of it."

Hines said 29 Texans had arrived here this morning.

Spring Floods Claimed Total Over 175 Lives

By The Associated Press.

Disastrous spring floods, fed by rainfalls considerably higher than average in most parts of the nation today had claimed an unofficial total of more than 175 lives, millions of dollars of property damage and untold misery to farmers in 11 midwestern states.

The greatest loss of life was in Nebraska, where the floods took 106 lives in the past few weeks. To date 67 bodies were recovered and 39 other persons were listed as dead.

Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico counted 28 dead; Texas and Oklahoma 18 each. One was drowned in Illinois when an automobile struck a culvert and overturned in a flooded ditch. Two of the dead in Texas were struck by lightning and two South Carolina youths were killed in the same manner. One person was drowned during a storm in New England and a small boat with an undetermined number of passengers was reported missing.

Among the property damages estimated were $14,000,000 in Nebraska; $6,000,000 in Colorado; $500,000 in Minnesota from high winds; $4,500,000 in Texas; $1,250,000 in Oklahoma.

Crop losses defied estimate. In the midwest where a year ago farmers prayed for rain to end one of the worst droughts of history, the crying need today was for sunshine.

The one bright spot on the flood scene was that in most sections the waters apparently were subsiding.

Counterbalancing this, however, was the fact that virtually every part of the nation except the Atlantic and Pacific coasts reported rain yesterday. Most states also found that the average rainfall for June were considerably heavier than usual and that temperatures were below normal.

Seed to Help Check Dust Storm Erosion Distributed In Area

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Seed to help check dust storm erosion in Texas, Colorado and South Dakota has been distributed by the farm administration's seed conservation committee.

The committee announced 210,000 pounds of hedges seed and 5,000 bushels of seed oats and barley had been turned over to the soil conservation service for planting in drought territory on vacated lands that remain unplanted this year.

The seed goes to cooperating farmers within established erosion control projects who agree to plant it for cover purposes and for supplementary pasture. The object is to check blowing of top soil.

The hedges seed will be distributed in the Amarillo and Dalhart regions of Texas. The seed oats and barley go to Colorado and South Dakota.

The seed was part of a supply purchased last season in order to insure an adequate supply of adapted seed in areas devastated by drought.

Knife Wounds Are Fatal to Negro

Dock Jimerson, 35, negro, is dead, and Ock Walker, negro, is in jail without bail as a result of an altercation north of Powell at an early hour Wednesday morning in which Jimerson received fatal knife wounds.

The accused negro and his sister, Lillie Walker, were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs J. M. Westbrook and Jack Floyd.

Walker was formally charged by complaint with murder before Judge W. T. McFadden, who remanded him to jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury now in session at the conclusion of an examining trial Wednesday morning. The examining trial was conducted by John R. Curington, criminal district attorney.

Officers were advised that the altercation was the outgrowth of a fight between the slain negro and Lillie Walker, which was staged shortly before the cutting scrape. Jimerson is reported to have died immediately.

No charge had been filed against the negroes shortly before noon Wednesday.

GREAT BRITAIN IS USING NEW NAVAL AGREEMENT AS CLUB

ANNOUNCE NEGOTIATIONS BE RESUMED WITH FRANCE; ITALY IS NEXT

By ALBERT W. WILSON (Associated Press Foreign Staff.) (Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 19.—(AP)—British officials, equipped with the bargaining power of the new naval agreement with Germany, prepared to receive delegations of naval experts from France, Italy and Russia with whom they expect to discuss the terms of a proposed multilateral treaty for naval limitation.

Well-informed British quarters stated an invitation for the discussion of such a general pact already has been extended to France and that the details probably will be arranged when Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, confers with Premier Pierre Laval of France, in Paris on Friday.

Despite the clamor raised in the French press over the Anglo-German agreement, British officials insist the French government officially has expressed neither approval nor disapproval of the agreement.

French fears that Britain's next move will be a bi-lateral air pact with Germany were ridiculed by British officials who said "such an idea has entered no one's head here."

It was stated authoritatively new development in forming a five-power Western European air pact may be expected to result from Captain Eden's trip to France.

The Anglo-German naval delegations, held a further meeting at the admiralty office and discussed the dates of construction of Germany's new navy as well as sizes and types of the new warships.

LONDON, June 19.—Great Britain wielded its new naval agreement with Germany as a bargaining weapon today, confident it can persuade other European powers to accept naval limitations.

The conclusion of a naval treaty for all principal powers of Europe by 1937—granting that Japan would remain adamant against restrictions on warships—became the objective of the British government.

The committee announced 210,000 pounds of hedges seed and 5,000 bushels of seed oats and barley had been turned over to the soil conservation service for planting in drought territory on vacated lands that remain unplanted this year.

The seed goes to cooperating farmers within established erosion control projects who agree to plant it for cover purposes and for supplementary pasture. The object is to check blowing of top soil.

Seek Early Vote AAA Amendments Senate Wednesday

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Roosevelt leaders sought an early vote in the senate today on the farm amendments which invest Secretary Wallace with new powers.

The amendments, studiously prepared as well to strengthen the AAA in any supreme court test, bounced through the house yesterday by 168 to 52, although the question of their constitutionality was raised. Senate opposition, so strongly registered last year appeared today to have been largely dissipated.

Chief among the amendments' provisions is an authorization for the secretary of agriculture to "order" marketable agreements—if 50 per cent of the handlers or two-thirds of the producers desire one—for handlers or producers of milk, tobacco, fresh fruits except apples, fresh vegetables and turpentine.

will be resumed with Italy which, like France, was bound by the Washington treaty.

It was understood a Russian delegation may be formally invited to London soon.

The Anglo-German pact disclosed, however, that both nations are convinced naval ratios, applying to all categories, must be the backbone for any limitation treaty.

French Consider Britain Scrapped Washington Treaty

PARIS, June 19.—(AP)—Members of the chamber of commerce committee said today a majority of that body considered that the British scrapped Washington naval treaty of 1922 when they made their present naval agreement with Germany.

This consensus they stated, was shown at a secret session of the committee. They said the committee agreed with the government's view that "France has a free hand" on the naval question.

The committee was understood to foresee a naval armament race as a result to the Anglo-German accord. Premier Pierre Laval and Francois Pietri, minister of marine, were requested to appear before the committee Friday to discuss the enlargement of the French fleet.

The members said France's 600,000 tons of warships were roughly divided into 400,000 tons for Mediterranean service and 200,000 for the Atlantic.

They argued that if Germany has 400,000 tons, France would be hopelessly outclassed and would have to build up her Atlantic fleet on the grounds that the 400,000 tons assigned to the Mediterranean colonies were needed to protect many long coastline and to transport colonial troops.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS DISPUTED LIMITS UTILITIES MEASURE

EXPLAINS HIS REASON FOR RESTRICTIONS WITH CHART COMPANY

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Approval of the controversial section of the utilities holding company bill providing for eventual elimination of holding companies not in adjoining territory was voiced today by President Roosevelt.

He spoke at a press conference almost at the same time that house interstate commerce subcommittee recommended a substitute measure drastically amending the provision of the senate bill for abolishing this type of holding companies.

Under the amended bill the securities and exchange commission in general could require each holding company system to "confine its operations to one integrated public utility system."

A statement issued by the subcommittee said that such a limitation is not necessary in the public interest, it is to require the limitation of the operations of such holding company system to a number of integrated public utility systems as it finds may be included in the holding company system consistently with the public interest.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today he was heartily in favor of the controversial section of the utilities holding company bill providing for eventual elimination of holding companies not in adjoining territory.

In response to inquiry at his regular press conference, the president emphasized that the legislation which had been locked in the house interstate commerce committee did not affect intrastate companies such as the Public Service corporation of New Jersey and the Niagara Hudson company in New York.

He went on to explain what he termed evils which he hoped to eliminate by the legislation.

He referred to the Associated Gas and Electric company and a chart representing an organization of this type.

He said the chart would show perhaps 100 little circles at the bottom of the sheet—operating companies. Most of these companies, he said, were properly capitalized and making money, for
